

113TH CONGRESS
1ST SESSION

S. RES. 90

Standing with the people of Kenya following their national and local elections on March 4, 2013, and urging a peaceful and credible resolution of electoral disputes in the courts.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

MARCH 22, 2013

Mr. COONS (for himself, Mr. CARDIN, and Mr. FLAKE) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations

RESOLUTION

Standing with the people of Kenya following their national and local elections on March 4, 2013, and urging a peaceful and credible resolution of electoral disputes in the courts.

Whereas the Government and people of the United States stand with the people of Kenya following their national and local elections on March 4, 2013;

Whereas the Governments of the United States and Kenya have long shared a strong bilateral partnership, and Kenya plays a critically important role as a cornerstone of stability in East Africa and as a valued ally of the United States;

Whereas Kenya's disputed 2007 presidential election threatened the country's stability and its democratic trajectory, triggering an explosion of violence that resulted in the deaths of some 1,140 civilians and displaced nearly 600,000, some of whom have still not returned home;

Whereas a mediation effort by former United Nations Secretary-General Kofi Annan and an African Union Panel of Eminent African Personalities, supported by the United States, led to the signing of the National Accord on February 28, 2008, which facilitated a power-sharing arrangement and led to a series of constitutional, electoral, and institutional reforms to address underlying causes of the crisis;

Whereas, as part of that reform process, the citizens of Kenya participated in a national referendum in August 2010, approving a new constitution that mandated significant institutional and structural changes to the government;

Whereas those constitutional changes have led to important reforms in the judicial sector and the electoral system in Kenya that aim to build greater public confidence in government institutions, and which demonstrate meaningful progress;

Whereas Kenya's Independent Commission of Inquiry into the Post-Election Violence (the "Waki Commission") concluded from its investigation in 2008 that there had been "no serious effort by any government" to punish perpetrators of previous incidents of ethnic and political violence, leading to a culture of impunity that contributed to the crisis that followed the 2007 elections, and, since then, despite laudable judicial reforms, few perpetrators or organizers of that violence have been held accountable for their crimes in Kenyan courts;

Whereas, based on the findings of the Waki Commission, mediator Kofi Annan submitted a list of key suspects to the Office of the Prosecutor of the International Criminal Court (ICC) in 2009, and several have been subsequently charged at the ICC with crimes against humanity;

Whereas the Department of State's 2011 Human Rights Report on Kenya notes, "Widespread impunity at all levels of government continued to be a serious problem. The government took only limited action against security forces suspected of unlawful killings, and impunity in cases of corruption was common. Although the government took action in some cases to prosecute officials who committed abuses, impunity . . . was pervasive";

Whereas President Barack Obama's Strategy on Sub-Saharan Africa, released in June 2012, states that the United States will not stand by while actors ". . . manipulate the fairness and integrity of democratic processes, and we will stand in steady partnership with those who are committed to the principles of equality, justice and the rule of law";

Whereas, prior to the March 2013 elections, concerns about political violence in Kenya were high, and in the months preceding there had been strong indications that local politicians in various parts of the country were involved in organizing or inciting violence in order to influence local electoral outcomes;

Whereas, in a February 2013 message to the people of Kenya, President Obama highlighted the power Kenyan communities have to reject intimidation and violence surrounding the upcoming election, resolve disputes in the courts as opposed to the streets, and “move forward towards prosperity and opportunity that unleashes the extraordinary talents of your people”;

Whereas, five years after Kenya’s post-election crisis, the country held its first general elections under the new constitution on March 4, 2013, which were largely peaceful; and

Whereas Kenya’s presidential candidates and their political parties committed themselves to a peaceful electoral process, and to resolving any resulting disputes through the judicial process, which is now underway with the filing of cases before the Kenyan Supreme Court on March 16, 2013: Now, therefore, be it

1 Resolved, That the Senate—

2 (1) congratulates the people of Kenya on their
3 commitment to peaceful elections, as demonstrated
4 on March 4, 2013;

5 (2) calls on the people of Kenya to continue to
6 reject intimidation and violence, and encourages the
7 peaceful and credible resolution of electoral disputes
8 in the courts;

9 (3) urges restraint on all sides, while recognizing the right of the people of Kenya to peacefully
10 exercise their constitutional rights to freedom of expression, assembly, and demonstration;

1 (4) urges accountability for anyone found to be
2 complicit in promoting violence or manipulating elec-
3 toral processes or results;

4 (5) notes that many of the underlying griev-
5 ances that have underpinned ethnic divisions and
6 fueled the 2007–2008 violence remain largely
7 unaddressed;

8 (6) affirms that accountability for the 2007–
9 2008 post-election violence is a critical element to 10 ensure Kenya's democracy, peace, and long-term sta-
11 bility;

12 (7) calls on the Government of Kenya to respect
13 commitments to seek justice for the victims of polit-
14 ical violence, including by honoring its obligations
15 under the Rome Statute to cooperate fully with the 16 International Criminal Court with regard to the 17 three cases that remain before the Court slated to 18 go to trial in 2013;

19 (8) recognizes that, while the Government of
20 Kenya has made important progress since the 2007
21 election, aspects of the Kenyan reform agenda speci-
22 fied in the National Accord and 2010 constitution
23 remain unfinished, particularly with regard to police
24 reform, devolution, land reform, and security;

1 (9) encourages the people and Government of
2 Kenya to support ongoing implementation of con-
3 stitutional reforms, rule of law, and efforts to 4 strengthen governing, security, and judicial institu-
5 tions that respect the dignity and rights of all the
6 people of Kenya and ensure protection for judges;

7 (10) congratulates the many candidates elected
8 to office in the March 2013 election—including
9 those at the newly formed county level—and ex-
10 presses hope that newly elected members of govern-
11 ment will herald a new generation of responsible
12 leadership in Kenya; and

13 (11) reaffirms that the people of the United 14 States will continue to stand with the people of 15 Kenya in support of democracy, partnership, and 16 peace.
